ANSWERS TO ESSAY QUESTIONS—CHAPTER 2

84. Professor Jack Robertson defines employee fraud (or crime) as the "use of fraudulent means to take money or other property from an employer," usually involving some kind of falsification (e.g., false documents, lying, exceeding authority, or violating employer policies).

White-collar crimes according to the FBI are categorized by deceit, concealment, or violation of trust and are not dependent on the application or threat of physical force or violence. Such acts are committed by individuals and organizations to obtain money, property, or services; to avoid the payment or loss of money or services; or to secure a personal or business advantage.

- 85. The objectives of the CFF credential program are:
 - Achieve public recognition of the CFF as the preferred forensic accounting professional.
 - Enhance the quality of forensic services CFFs provide.
 - Increase practice development and career opportunity for CFFs.
 - Promote member's services through the Forensic and Valuation Service (FVS) website.
- 86. The Litigation and Dispute Resolution Subcommittee of the AICPA defines litigation services as "services that involve pending or potential formal legal or regulatory proceedings before a trier of fact in connection with the resolution of a dispute between two or more parties. A trier of fact is a court, regulatory body, or government authority; their agents; a grand jury; or an arbitrator or mediator of a dispute." The 2014 AICPA Forensic and Valuation Services Trend Survey found a healthy demand for forensic and valuation services and strong prospects for the future.
- 87. Michael Kessler was hired by Monsanto Company to track down a sweetener-counterfeiting ring. Fake Equal packages were showing up in stores from Minnesota to South Carolina. Stores were complaining to Monsanto that scanners could not read the bar codes on some Equal boxes.

Kessler found bogus boxes of the Monsanto sugar substitute buried among packing crates and cardboard in a trash bin outside of Brooklyn's Haskel Trading Company. From a database that links people to product counterfeiting, Kessler decided to stake out Haskel, where he obtained numerous photographs to substantiate counterfeiting charges. Monsanto obtained a court order and seized Haskel's books. Kessler found that Haskel was buying Equal in 2,000-pack boxes and repackaging the sweetener into 50-pack counterfeit boxes. Monsanto sued Haskel, and the suit was settled out of court.

- 88. Searching for Unreported Income
 - 1. Look at the lifestyles of the individuals (behavioral aspects).
 - 2. Look at the expenses of the business.
 - 3. Compare the cash flow with income.

- 4. Know the business operations.
- 5. Look at the industry ratios (see Chapters 5 and 6).
- 6. Consider using private investigators.
- 7. Use the net worth method (see Chapter 6).
- 89. Data-driven approaches do not detect all fraud schemes such as bribery and kickbacks. Often corruption and collusion involve circumvention of controls by top executives. Therefore, searching the relevant transaction's data for patterns, red flags, and unexplained relationships may not yield positive results because the information may not be recorded within the system. Thus, "behavioral concepts and qualitative factors frequently allow the auditor to look beyond the data, both with respect to data that is there and data that isn't."
