Test Bank for Labor Relations Striking a Balance 6th Edition by Budd

CLICK HERE TO ACCESS COMPLETE Test Bank

Test Bank

ANSWERS ARE LOCATED IN THE SECOND PART OF THIS DOCUMENT

1)	Fundamentally, a labor union is	a group	of workers	who join	together t	o influence	e the nature	of their employment.

1) nature		amentally, a labor union is a group of workers who join together to influir employment.	ience the 1)
	0	true
	0	false
Difficu Access
Dearnn	ing Objec	tive. or of bescribe the busic reactives of the contemporary c.s. habor relations system
2) the w		videning gap between the richest and poorest individuals in the U.S. is in the position of labor unions.	n part due to 2)
	o	true
	0	false
Difficu Access	-
3) its em		an employer uses an employee suggestion box to gather ideas and const, it is primarily addressing the labor relations goal of efficiency.	cerns from 3)
	<!--</td--><td>true false</td><td></td>	true false

Question Details

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Version 1 1

4) anoth	·	coals of efficiency, equity, and voice in the workplace rarely conflict with	n one 4)
	o	true
	0	false
Learnii Difficu	lty: 1 Ea	tive: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,
5) emplo	•	y role of unions is to negotiate work rules and practices that ensure fair try their managers and employers.	reatment of 5)
	o	true
	0	false
Learnii Difficu	lty: 1 Ea	tive: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,
6) that en		e United States, employees have broad protections against arbitrary dismers must provide a good business-related reason for firing someone.	issal such 6)
	o	true
	0	false
Learnii Difficu	lty: 2 M	tive: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

7) mutua	The official policy of the Unites States is to protect workers' rights to act together for all aid and protection in the workplace and to promote collective bargaining as a way to resolve	e workp	lace conflict.
			7)
	0	true
		false
_	n Details
	g Objecti ty : 2 Me	ve : 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,
	-	eyboard Navigation
8)		U.S., workers can generally be discharged for good cause, no cause, and	even a moran	y wrong	g cause.
			8)
	o	true
	o	false
Learnin Difficul	ty: 2 Me	ve: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,
9) (i.e., w		ndustrialized countries give employers wide latitude to dismiss employen just cause).	es "at will"
			9)
	0	frua
	••	false
	Ü	10150

Question Details

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

10)	In 2011, the Packers beat the Chicago Bears in their bid for the Super Bowl. The next day,	a Chicago car salesman was fired for wearing a Green Bay Packers tie to work despite havi	ng sold 14 cars in the previous month. In the U.S., such a dismissal is considered illegal.

10	O) _

- o true
- false

Question Details

Difficulty: 3 Hard

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

11) An organization that allows its employees to exercise their voice in the workplace using democratic principles similar to those that are commonly accepted in a democratic society is one that exercises industrial democracy.

11) _____

- o true
- false

Question Details

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

12) The concept of employee voice suggests that employees should have the right to express their opinions in the workplace but only if they are consistent with the majority of employees or with the employer's perspective.

12) _____

- o true
- false

Question Details

Difficulty: 3 Hard

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

13)	While voice and equity are important to the employment relationship, efficiency is really e critical component. If an employer can be efficient, equity and voice will naturally follow.
the cri	iicai coi	inponent. If an employer can be efficient, equity and voice will naturally 13)
	o	true
	0	false
Questio	n Details	S
	ty: 3 Hai
		ve: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity, eyboard Navigation
14) the right		U.S., an employer has a right to own property and make a profit, but so ace limitations and restrictions on how those profits are made.	ciety has 14)
	o	true
	0	false
Difficul Learnin
15) resolve		cts between what the employee wants and what the employer wants are tely between the individual and his or her employer.	generally 15)
	\circ	American
	0	true
	o	false
Questio	n Details	S
	g Objecti ty : 1 Eas	ve : 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity, sy
Accessi	Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

16) profits.	Neoliberal market ideology places the needs and rights of workers before efficiency and 16)
	<!--</td--><td>true false</td><td></td>	true false
	•	Taise
Learning Difficult	ty: 2 Me	ve: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity, relations systems in other countries tend to follow a neoliberal market is employment relationship as one in which balance between competing wed.
			17)
		true false
Learning Difficult	ty: 2 Me	ve: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,
18) employ		bor law tries to establish employer needs for efficiency as a priority over ed for equity and voice.	er 18)
	<!--</td--><td>true false</td><td></td>	true false
o	D 4 11

Question Details

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

19)	Labor relations systems around the world generally assume that corporations have signific	antly greater bargaining power than one individual worker.

19)

Question Details

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Difficulty: 2 Medium

0

0

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

true

false

20) One important goal of the U.S. labor law is to increase purchasing power of workers.

20) _____

- o true
- false

Question Details

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-03 Describe the basic features of the contemporary U.S. labor relations syste

21) A collective bargaining agreement negotiated between an employer and its workers is an informal agreement outlining the terms and conditions of employment.

21) _____

- o true
- false

Question Details

Difficulty: 3 Hard

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-03 Describe the basic features of the contemporary U.S. labor relations syste

22) Generally, if the majority of workers in a particular workplace want union representation, their employer is required by U.S. law to negotiate with them over wages, hours, and working conditions.

22) _____

Labor Relations Striking a Balance 6th Edition by Budd CH01

	<!--</th--><th>true false</th><th></th>	true false
Difficu Access	-
	t it tends	problem with the current legal framework governing labor relations in the sto be adversarial and does not promote cooperative relationships between and workers.	• 23)
	0	true
	o	false
Difficu Access Learni 24)	Since 24)
	0	true
	0	false
Difficu Access	•
25)	In con	mparison with businesses in other countries, businesses in the U.S. are n	nore likely to appreciate the chance to bargain collectively with their workers.

Version 1 8

			25)
		4
	(O)	true false
	•	Taise
	on Deta lty : 2 l	ails Medium
	-	Keyboard Navigation
Learnii	ng Obje	ective: 01-03 Describe the basic features of the contemporary U.S. labor relations syste
26) legisla		labor law is considered by labor supporters to be a strong piece of protection	ctive 26)
	0	true
	0	false
	Ü on Det a lty : 1 I
	-	Keyboard Navigation
	-	ective: 01-04 Discuss the current pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—on
27)	The	number of union members grew into the 1970s, but it has declined since	that time.
			27) 21)
	(true
	0	false
Questi	on Deta	ails
	•	Medium
	-	Keyboard Navigation ective: 01-04 Discuss the current pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—on Learnn	ng Obje	ective : 01-04 Discuss the current pressures on the 0.5. Tabor relations system—on
28) the we		number of U.S. workers who say they want representation or a "collective ce is very close to the number of workers that actually have it through un
J10 VV	ompia	22 13 . Org. 2.050 to the number of workers that actuary have it through the 28)

CIII	/1
	o	true
	0	false
Difficul Accessi	-
_	tion suc	se American unions were instrumental in pushing for increased protection as workers' compensation laws and unemployment insurance, the detail has increased, rather than decreased, over time.
			29)
	<!--</td--><td>true false</td><td></td>	true false
Difficul Accessi
	orce are	The decline in union density may be due to the fact that newer entrants less likely to have ever experienced the benefits of unionization, and the become union members themselves.
			30) true false
Difficul Accessi	-
31) older.	Worke	ers are more likely to experience unionism when they are young than w	hen they are 31)

0	true
o	false

Question Details

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-04 Discuss the current pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—on

32) If the reasons for the decline in unionization rates in the U.S. are largely structural and a result of declining demand for union services, there is no real need for labor law reform.

32) 22)

- o true
- (iii) false

Question Details

Difficulty: 3 Hard

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-04 Discuss the current pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—on MULTIPLE CHOICE - Choose the one alternative that best completes the statement or answers the question.

33) From a societal standpoint, the main purpose of a labor relations system is

331 נטט

- A) to equalize the distribution of income across society.
- B) to ensure public safety, promote worker voice in politics, and reduce income inequalities that create a tax burden.
- C) to control the actions of employers and employees so that they are clearly acting in the best interests of society.
- D) to protect the profit maximization goals of business and ensure competition in the marketplace.

Question Details

Difficulty: 3 Hard

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

34) it is mo		nen an employer allows supervisors to arbitrarily discipline employees without lirectly violating which objective of the employment relationship?	ıt cause,
		34	4)
	A)	Efficiency
	B)	Equity
		Voice
	D)	Effectiveness
Difficult	g Obj ty : 2	tails jective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity, Medium : Keyboard Navigation
35)		nen an employer adopts an employee participation program, such as a workpla , it is most directly addressing which objective of the employment relationship	•
		35	5)
	A)	Efficiency
	B)	Equality
	C)	Voice

Question Details

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Difficulty: 1 Easy

Accessibility : Keyboard Navigation

D) Exclusive representation

36) An employer creates a safety team of six employees who are asked to recommend changes to the workplace that will reduce accident rates. The team recommends eliminating a job rotation program that allows the employer to move employees in and out of various jobs on an as-needed basis. They argue that job rotation both increases employee stress and reduces the amount of experience that employees have with the various safety procedures associated with a particular job. A conflict between which two objectives of the employment relationship is described in this scenario?

36)
20,

- A) Equity and efficiency
- B) Efficiency and voice
- C) Equity and voice
- D) None, there is no conflict.

Question Details

Difficulty: 3 Hard

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

37) According to the Universal Declaration of Human Rights issued by the United Nations, it is considered a basic human right for

27
/ ·	1
37)	,

- A) individuals to have the right to form and join trade unions for the protection of their interests.
- B) employers to have the right to unilaterally determine the terms and conditions of employment.
 - C) individuals to unilaterally determine the terms and conditions of their employment.
- D) employers to form and join employer associations for their own protection and the protection of other employers.

Question Details

Difficulty: 3 Hard

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Version 1

38)	Which of the follow	ing outcomes ca	annot generally b	be attributed to unions?
-------------	---------------------	-----------------	-------------------	--------------------------

38) _____

- A) Higher income and living standards for workers
- B) Greater protection for workers against unfair treatment by employers
- C) Greater flexibility in work rules
- D) Greater emphasis on legislation and social programs that assist working people

Question Details

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

39) Which of the following is not considered an argument for treating employees as "more" than simply another commodity that can be bought and sold in the labor market?

39) _____

- A) Most modern workers are completely dependent upon jobs, not property, in determining the quality of their life.
- B) Working adults spend a considerable proportion of their life at work, and hence, work provides an important social setting that greatly influences quality of life.
- C) When workers agree to supply their labor in exchange for pay and benefits, they are freely choosing to follow management's directives.
- D) Workers have feelings and free will that can, if they wish, interfere with the quantity and quality of work they perform.

Question Details

Difficulty: 3 Hard

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

40) Which of the following is true about management and worker views on employee voice?

Version 1

40) 40)

- A) Managers prefer to negotiate with groups of employees to get multiple perspectives at the same time.
- B) The majority of workers prefer to negotiate with management individually over workplace issues.
- C) Workers prefer to deal with management as a group, often in the form of representation that is independent of management.
 - D) Managers prefer for employees to have independent representation in the workplace.

Question Details

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

41) Most countries base their industrial relations system on the perspective that

41) _____

- A) worker rights should be valued over employer rights.
- B) employer rights should be valued over worker rights.
- C) there should be balance between worker and employer rights.
- D) consumer rights should be valued over worker rights.

Question Details

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Difficulty: 1 Easy

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

42) Conflicts between employers and employees can best be described as conflicts between

42) _____

- A) property rights and individual rights.
- B) consumer rights and privacy rights.
- C) rights of the privileged and rights of the underprivileged.
- D) economic rights and worker rights.

Ou	estior	ı De	tails

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

43) Which of the following is specified by the U.S. labor law?

43))

- A) Workers can be fired if they are found to be supporting a union.
- B) Employers cannot threaten employees or undertake other actions for the sole purpose of preventing unionization.
- C) Workers cannot unionize as it imbalances the bargaining power between employees and employers.
 - D) Corporations have the same bargaining power as individual, nonunion workers.

Question Details

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-03 Describe the basic features of the contemporary U.S. labor relations syste

44) Which of the following is NOT a major subject of collective bargaining between employers and employees?

44) _____

Version 1

A`	Compensation
4 4	Compensation

- B) Decisions over which applicants to hire
- C) Employee rights and responsibilities
- D) Employer rights and responsibilities

Ou	estior	ı De	tails

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

45) Union contracts are

45) _____

- A) legally enforceable for both employees and employers.
- B) largely voluntary agreements that neither party is required by law to follow.
- C) not allowed by law.
- D) legally enforceable for the employees only.

Question Details

Difficulty: 1 Easy

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-03 Describe the basic features of the contemporary U.S. labor relations syste

46) Traditional adversarial bargaining relationships between employers and employees has made meeting employers' increasing need for ______ more difficult.

46) _____

- A) flexibility
- B) equity
- C) cooperation and employee involvement
- D) workplace fairness

Difficulty: 1 Easy

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-03 Describe the basic features of the contemporary U.S. labor relations syste

47) Business pressures for competitiveness and quality have affected the collective bargaining process in all of the following ways except

47) _____

- A) increased the need for flexibility in work rules.
- B) increased the need for more specific, detailed contracts.
- C) increased need for cooperation and employee involvement in work decisions.
- D) increased need to communicate about the terms of a contract more than once every three years when the contract expires.

Question Details

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-04 Discuss the current pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—on

48) Which of the following characterizes the current business environment compared to that at the time the National Labor Relations Act was passed?

48) _____

- A) Clear differences between "manual" and "managerial" labor
- B) American domination of world markets
- C) More mass manufacturing production systems
- D) Increasing number of knowledge and gig workers

Question Details

Difficulty: 1 Easy

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-04 Discuss the current pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—on

49) unilate	The crucial feature of collective bargaining is that management's traditional erally establish terms and conditions of employment is replaced by	• 49)
	A) equitable
	B) bilateral
	C) competitive
	D) co-lateral
-	on Details Ity: 1 Easy
	bility : Keyboard Navigation
	ag Objective : 01-04 Discuss the current pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—or	n
50)	Which of the following best summarizes the trends in U.S. union densit	y since the 1980s?
		50)
	A) Decreases in both the private and public sectors
	B) Increases in both the private and public sectors
	C) Stable in the private sector and decreases in the public sector
	D) Stable in the public sector and decreases in the private sector
Difficu Accessi	on Details Ity: 2 Medium Ibility: Keyboard Navigation Ity: Objective: 01-04 Discuss the current pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—on	n
51)	Union density in the United States is currently estimated at 51)

- A) over 40 percent
- B) about 25 percent
- C) 20 percent
- D) less than 15 percent

Question Details

Difficulty: 1 Easy

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-04 Discuss the current pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—on

52) A union contract is

52) _____

- A) a legally binding document that describes the terms of employment (e.g., wages hours, working conditions).
- B) an agreement between management and labor that loosely states the rules they will each try to abide by in the workplace.
- C) a legally binding agreement between employees and their union representatives that outlines the scope of the union's authority.
- D) a voluntary but not legally binding agreement between employees and their union representatives that outlines the terms of employment.

Question Details

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-04 Discuss the current pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—on

53) Which of the following can at least partially explain the decline in union density rates in the United States since the 1960's?

53) _____

- A) Employment in traditionally unionized industries such as manufacturing has decreased.
 - B) Employment in service and knowledge industries has declined.
- C) Employment growth in the north has been faster than employment growth in the south.
 - D) Educated workers are more likely to unionize than uneducated workers.

Question Details

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-04 Discuss the current pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—on

54) Which of the following is not true about the decline in demand for unions in the U.S.?

54)
JTI

- A) To some extent, protective legislation ensuring safety and income security has served to replace union representation.
- B) Individuals who experience union representation are unhappy with it and decide they do not want it.
- C) U.S. unions have not put enough money into union organizing and have therefore not done a good job of "selling" their services.
- D) Employers may be more likely to listen to their employees and respond to their changing needs thus reducing employees' need for outside representation.

Question Details

Difficulty: 3 Hard

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-04 Discuss the current pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—on

At present, the gap between those employees who say they want unions and those that have union representation in the private sector at their workplace is about _____.

55) _____

A) 33%
B) 50%
C) 75%
D) 25%
Question Details
Difficulty: 2 Medium
Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation
Learning Objective: 01-04 Discuss the current pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—on A group of Walmart employees in Raleigh, NC, staged a 5-minute flash mob protest over low wages and working conditions at their store. At the end of the demonstration, they handed the manager a signed petition. Which of the following is true in this scenario?
56)
A) The employer can fire the workers.
B) The employees' actions are illegal because they do not have formal union representation.
1

- repres
- C) The employees' actions are legal because they are acting together to influence their working conditions.
 - D) The employer can only fire the workers if they don't formally join or create a union.

Question Details

Difficulty: 3 Hard

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-04 Discuss the current pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—on

57) In today's labor relations environment, _____.

57) _____

Version 1 22

if sweathlops and forms of modern blavery are nonembled in the conteast	tshops and forms of modern slavery are nonexistent in t	ne Omicu S	iaics
---	---	------------	-------

- B) workers are assured of a wage necessary to support a family.
- C) the number of employers violating labor standards is increasing.
- D) workers are generally fired only for good reasons.

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Learning Objective: 01-01 Understand why studying labor relations is important and how the subject c

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

58) From a worker's perspective, the concept of labor relations is about

58) _____

- A) promoting organizational goals.
- B) managing relationships with coworkers.
- C) collective work-related protection.
- D) progressive human resource management tactics that make unions unnecessary.

Question Details

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Difficulty: 1 Easy

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

59) The legal doctrine that states that employers have the right to lay off employees for a good cause, morally wrong cause, or no cause is called the ______ doctrine.

59) _____

- A) employment-at-will
- B) collective bargaining
- C) union avoidance
- D) employer resistance

	O	uestion	Details
--	---	---------	----------------

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

60) Which of the following is a belief held by the proponents of the neoliberal market ideology?

60) _____

- A) Labor unions should not enjoy any special legal protections.
- B) Workers should not have the ability to quit jobs they do not like.
- C) Workers' rights should trump property rights.
- D) Property rights and workers' rights should be balanced.

Question Details

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-03 Describe the basic features of the contemporary U.S. labor relations syste

61) Lengthy, detailed, legally binding union contracts have clashed with employers' need for greater flexibility that they argue is necessary for adapting to today's competitive, fast-changing business environment. Which of the following conflicts is highlighted in this statement?

61) _____

- A) Equity versus efficiency
- B) Equity versus equality
- C) Voice versus efficiency
- D) Voice versus equality

Question Details

Difficulty: 3 Hard

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-03 Describe the basic features of the contemporary U.S. labor relations syste

62)	When employers actively work to keep unions out of their workplace or are of	penly hostile	toward unions, it is known as 62)
	A) industrial democracy
	B) employment at will
	C) union density
	D) employer resistance
0 4
_	n Details y : 1 Easy
-	pility: Keyboard Navigation
Learning	g Objective : 01-04 Discuss the current pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—on
	IN THE DI ANIZ XX
	IN THE BLANK. Write the word or phrase that best completes each state rs the question.	ement or
	The concept of equity refers to the objective of when distributing t	he economic s that stem from the employment relationship.	ne economic
i o waras	s that stem from the employment relationship.
		63)
Question	n Details
_	g Objective : 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity, y : 2 Medium oility : Keyboard Navigation
Accessio	mity . Reyboard Navigation
64)	Employee empowerment is another term used to describe, an object	ctive of the employ employ	ment relationship in which workers are given some say in the conditions of the ment.	neir 64) UT)

Question Details Difficulty: 3 Hard Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity, Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation
65) The notion that workers should be entitled to the same democratic principles of participation in the workplace as they are entitled to in society is known as 65)
Question Details Difficulty: 3 Hard Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity, Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation
66) Conflicts between employers and employees are seen as conflicts between the of employers and the workers' rights of employees.	·
	66)
Question Details Difficulty: 3 Hard Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity, Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation
67) A(n) perspective sees the employment relationship as analogous to society in which multiple parties have legitimate but sometimes conflicting interests a 67)
Question Details Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity, Difficulty: 2 Medium Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation
68) occurs when representatives of the employer and representatives of negotiate the terms and conditions of employment.	its workers

	68)
Question Details Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objective Difficulty: 1 Easy Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation	es of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,
69) is a measure of the pe	ercentage of workers who are union members. 69)
Question Details Difficulty: 1 Easy Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation Learning Objective: 01-04 Discuss the current	pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—on ribe the difference between the number of workers who workplace and the number that are unionized. 70)
Question Details Difficulty: 1 Easy Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation Learning Objective: 01-04 Discuss the current	pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—on ESSAY. Write your answer in the space provided or on a separate sheet of paper.

71) Explain the objectives of the employment relationship from the perspective of employers, employees, and society. Give at least one example of how these perspectives may conflict.

Question Details

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

72) Explain the employment-at-will doctrine. How does this doctrine conflict with the belief that workers are more than just a commodity that can be bought and sold in a labor market?

Question Details

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

73) How is the concept of industrial democracy consistent with the traditional values of the United States democratic system?

Question Details

Difficulty: 3 Hard

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

74) Explain the fundamental conflict over property rights versus worker rights.

Question Details

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

75) Explain why voluntary, market-based economic theory places property rights over worker rights and describe how worker rights are protected in this system.

Question Details

Learning Objective: 01-02 Define the objectives of the employment relationship (efficiency, equity,

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

76) How does U.S. labor law strike a balance between efficiency, equity, and voice?

Question Details

Difficulty: 1 Easy

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-03 Describe the basic features of the contemporary U.S. labor relations syste

77) Describe what collective bargaining is and give some examples of the kinds of things that might be addressed in the collective bargaining process.

Question Details

Difficulty: 1 Easy

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-03 Describe the basic features of the contemporary U.S. labor relations syste

78) Explain why the traditional collective bargaining process in the U.S. has been criticized for producing collective bargaining agreements (or union contracts) that are incompatible with today's business needs.

Question Details

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-04 Discuss the current pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—on

79) The National Labor Relations Act (NRLA) has been criticized as an outdated piece of legislation that is hindering, rather than helping, America in coping with the realities of the new global marketplace. Describe how work has changed since the NLRA was passed and discuss how these changes might conflict with the protections provided in the NLRA.

Question Details

Difficulty: 3 Hard

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-04 Discuss the current pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—on 80) Why has union density in the U.S. declined so dramatically since the 1950s?

Question Details

Difficulty: 1 Easy

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-04 Discuss the current pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—on

81) What is the "representation gap"? What evidence, if any, exists to suggest that there may be a representation gap in the United States?

Question Details

Difficulty: 1 Easy

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Learning Objective: 01-04 Discuss the current pressures on the U.S. labor relations system—on

82) Is the study of labor relations still relevant in today's workplace?

Question Details

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Learning Objective: 01-01 Understand why studying labor relations is important and how the subject c

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

83) How do the wage and benefit packages in union contracts affect nonunion workers and their employers?

Question Details

Difficulty: 2 Medium

Learning Objective: 01-01 Understand why studying labor relations is important and how the subject c

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

84) In 2012, Triple Play Sports Bar, was found to have committed an unfair labor practice when it unlawfully terminated the employment of two employees who had engaged in a Facebook conversation about the way their employer was handling tax withholdings. The National Labor Relations Board held that the discussion of their tax treatment was substantively related to wages, hours, and working conditions and therefore protected by the National Labor Relations Act (NRLA). In what ways might the study of labor relations have prevented Triple Play from violating a federal law protecting worker rights?

Question Details

Difficulty: 3 Hard

Learning Objective: 01-01 Understand why studying labor relations is important and how the subject c

Accessibility: Keyboard Navigation

Answer Key

Test name: CH01

- 1) TRUE
- 2) TRUE
- 3) FALSE
- 4) FALSE
- 5) TRUE
- 6) FALSE
- 7) TRUE
- 8) TRUE
- 9) FALSE
- 10) FALSE
- 11) TRUE
- 12) FALSE
- 13) FALSE
- 14) TRUE
- 15) TRUE
- 16) FALSE
- 17) FALSE
- 18) FALSE
- 19) TRUE
- 20) TRUE
- 21) FALSE
- 22) TRUE
- 23) TRUE
- 24) FALSE
- 25) TRUE

- 26) FALSE
- 27) TRUE
- 28) FALSE
- 29) FALSE
- 30) TRUE
- 31) TRUE
- 32) TRUE
- 33) B
- 34) B
- 35) C
- 36) B
- 37) A
- 38) C
- 39) C
- 40) C
- 41) C
- 42) A
- 43) B
- 44) B
- 45) A
- 46) C
- 47) B
- 48) D
- 49) B
- 50) D
- 51) D
- 52) A
- 53) A
- 54) B
- 55) A

Version 1

- 56) C
- 57) C
- 58) C
- 59) A
- 60) A
- 61) A
- 62) D
- 63) fairness
- 64) voice
- 65) Industrial Democracy
- 66) property rights
- 67) pluralist
- 68) Collective bargaining
- 69) Union density
- 70) Representation gap
- 71) The three objectives of the employment relationship include efficiency, equity, and voice. From society's perspective, efficiency helps attain the productive, profit-maximizing use of labor to promote economic prosperity. From both the employer's and employee's perspective, equity is fairness in the distribution of economic rewards, the administration of employment policies, and the provision of employee security. Finally, voice is the ability of the employees to have meaningful input into workplace decisions. These three objectives sometimes work together, but there are times when they may conflict. For example, equitable treatment may reduce flexibility as well as efficiency, or employee voice may make decisions more cumbersome, resulting in inefficiency.

- 72) The employment-at-will doctrine states that employers have the right to dismiss their employees for any cause (i.e., "at will"). This suggests that employees can be treated as "disposable" factors of production and easily discarded when they are no longer deemed useful. However, the fact that workers are human beings with thoughts, emotions, needs, and desires conflicts with the notion that they are like any other commodity. Work is not solely an economic transaction, but rather it is complete human activity whereby moral views on the sanctity of human life and human dignity must be respected. Unlike other commodities, when human life is not treated with respect, these "human assets" can act in ways that push back. Further, the quality of employment and the workplace itself is important for individuals, their families, and society as a whole, thus creating an additional responsibility for employers to treat them with greater dignity and respect.
- 73) The concept of industrial democracy states that, in a democratic society, the democratic principles that form the foundation for society should be applied to the workplace. In the U.S., our democratic principles respect the decision of the majority through a system of voting rights and representation in governance decisions. Thus, our democratic principles suggest that workers should, at a minimum, have some voice in the decisions that happen in the workplace. To fully embrace our democratic principles in the workplace, workers would have the right to vote for representatives who are responsible for bringing the voice of the workers to management decision-making.

- 74) When it comes to the employment relationships, a capital owner's primary interest is in maintaining control over their assets (i.e., the business) and maximizing efficiency of operations. In this way, they are able to improve the value of their property while maintaining control over it. Workers, on the other hand, are concerned with equity and voice (worker rights). They wish to receive their "fair share" of profits in the organization (i.e., returns to efficiency). Further, they wish to have some say in how the organization operates and how they are treated (as a matter of equity). These perspectives are often in conflict as employers see employee voice as a threat to their autonomy and control while equity is often seen to threaten efficiency and profits.
- 75) Voluntary, market-based economic theory places property rights over worker rights because basic economic theory shows that competitive markets and well-defined property rights are optimal for achieving efficiency. Worker rights are protected by allowing workers to exercise their ability to quit jobs they do not like, thus exerting pressure on employers to offer more acceptable terms and conditions of employment.
- 76) U.S. labor law strikes a balance between efficiency, equity, and voice by increasing the purchasing power of workers and reducing disruptive strike activity (efficiency). It also strikes a balance by achieving fair labor standards and protection against worker exploitation (equity). Finally, it provides democracy in the workplace (voice).

77) Collective bargaining occurs when representatives of the employer and representatives of its workers negotiate the terms and conditions of employment. Efficiency, equity, and voice are achieved through collective bargaining. Examples of items that may be addressed in the collective bargaining process include compensation (wages, benefits, vacations and holidays, and profit sharing job standards), personnel policies and procedures (layoff, promotion, transfer policies, and overtime and vacation rules), employee rights and responsibilities (seniority rights, job standards, and workplace rules), employer rights and responsibilities (management rights, just cause discipline and discharge, subcontracting, and safety standards), union rights and responsibilities (recognition as the bargaining unit, bulletin board, union security, dues checkoff, shop stewards, and no strike clauses), and dispute resolution and ongoing decision making (grievance procedures, committees, consultation, and renegotiation procedures).

78) The traditional collective bargaining process has been criticized for producing collective bargaining agreements (union contracts) that are incompatible with today's business needs in three major ways. First, the business need for flexibility (efficiency) clashes with the lengthy contracts that spell out detailed work rules (equity). In addition, flexible compensation systems to promote and reward high-performing employees can clash with equity if the systems are perceived by others as too subjective or unfair. The second major criticism is that the business need for cooperation and employee involvement clashes with the traditional adversarial bargaining process in which labor and management use aggressive tactics to extract as many gains or concessions from the other side as their power allows. Third, the need for both flexibility and involvement is not well served by a process in which contracts are renegotiated every three years with little to no communication between these negotiating periods.

79) When the NLRA was passed, the U.S. economy was dominated by mass manufacturing companies where there were clear distinctions between manual labor and managerial labor. These clear distinctions made it easier to define who was considered a "worker" and who was considered a "manager". Further, America dominated the global market which allowed employers to pass some of the cost of wages and improved working conditions onto consumers. Today, the workforce is increasingly service-oriented with blurred lines of distinction between the "brawns" and the "brains." Many jobs may include some component of what would historically have been considered supervisory work (e.g., quality control, scheduling authority, decision-making authority). Further, increased global competition has made it more important that U.S. companies be flexible and able to adapt to a changing competitive market in ways that are difficult under the NLRA.

- 80) Union density's dramatic decline since the 1950s can be explained in multiple ways. First, employment has declined in traditionally unionized industries, such as manufacturing, while employment in the services sector, a nonunion industry, has increased. Second, the demand for union services has declined. This has three components: 1) demand can decline because unions are not doing a good job of responding to the desires of a changing workforce and overcoming the negative stereotypes of unions, 2) if employers have improved their responsiveness to employees' needs, this can reduce the demand for union protection, 3) increased protective legislation may have provided a substitute for unions (e.g., Civil Rights Act, Equal Pay Act, OSHA, Family Medical Leave Act). Finally, in the U.S. there is a great deal of employer resistance and opposition to unions. U.S. businesses are typically hostile toward labor unions and have developed a wide range of union avoidance tactics.
- 81) The representation gap is the difference between the number of workers who express interest in representation in the workplace and the number that are unionized. Evidence indicates that the representation gap is large because surveys reveal that one-third to one-half of nonunion workers would like a union in their workplace. This implies that there are 40 million or more workers who want union representation but currently lack it, and most of them are in the private sector.

- 82) Yes, the study of labor relations is still relevant. While the majority of the private sector workforce is not unionized, much of the public sector workforce is. Further, certain industries, important to social development, are highly unionized (e.g., construction). But beyond the union density rates is the reality that in any employment relationship, there needs to be a balance struck between efficiency, equity, and voice. Understanding the historical development of labor relations as well as the foundations of an industrial relations system, ensures that mistakes of the past will not be repeated. It also ensures that employers and employees are informed of their respective rights in the workplace.
- 83) Wage and benefit packages in union contracts can influence nonunion workers through a threat effect: the threat that dissatisfied workers will unionize sometimes causes nonunion firms to at least partially match union wage and benefit terms.
- 84) First, knowledge of the NLRA would have helped Triple Play to understand the protections its employees were entitled to under the law. They would have understood that employees do not have to be unionized to enjoy the benefits of the NLRA. They would also have understood that employees have the right to discuss their working conditions and wages. Second, the study of labor relations would have helped Triple Play understand the importance of addressing employee concerns before they become so frustrated that they "go public" with their complaints. Third, it would have helped Triple Play to better understand and estimate the costs associated with handling the labor conflict in the manner they chose. Finally, studying labor relations would have helped Triple Play to consider other, possibly more productive, ways to resolve their conflict with the employees.