What amount, if any, can Blackwell deduct for the expected claim settlement this year?

129) Joe operates a plumbing business that uses the accrual method and reports on a calendar year. This year, Joe signed a $50,000 binding contract with Brian. Under the contract, Brian will provide Joe with up to 2,000 hours of vehicle repairs at $25 per hour. This year, Brian provided 200 hours of repair services and billed Joe for $5,000. At year-end, Joe had not paid Brian for the services. What amount, if any, can Joe deduct for the repair services this year?

130) Shadow Services uses the accrual method and reports on a calendar year. This year, Shadow agreed to a uniform-cleaning contract with Odie Cleaning. Under the contract, Odie bills Shadow for cleaning services as the services are provided. At year-end, Shadow paid Odie $2,350 for the services rendered during the year. In addition, Shadow paid Odie $700 for cleaning services expected in January of next year. What amount, if any, can Shadow deduct for the cleaning services this year?

131) Murphy uses the accrual method and reports on a calendar year. This year, Murphy signed a binding contract to provide consulting services to Kirby beginning next year. Murphy incurred $15,000 to train his staff for this particular project. In addition, Murphy estimates that he will incur another $60,000 to complete the Kirby contract. What amount, if any, can Murphy deduct this year for the services expected to be rendered next year?

132) Taffy Products uses the accrual method and reports on a calendar year. On July 1st of this year Taffy paid $48,000 for warehouse rent and $18,000 for insurance on the contents of its warehouse. The rent and insurance cover the next 12 months. What amount, if any, can Taffy deduct for rent and insurance this year?

Arm's length is the test used to determine whether an expenditure is reasonable or exorbitant in amount.

31) D

All three situations involve suspicious payments to a related taxpayer or payments with personal benefits.

32) D

The deduction of each of the above expenditures is either limited or prohibited altogether.

35) E

To deduct the cost of meals associated with an entertainment activity, the cost of the meal must be identified separately from the cost of the entertainment. In all events, only half of the meal expense can be deducted.

36) D

Since the life insurance proceeds are not included in Dick's income, the premiums are classified as an expense associated with the production of tax-exempt income.

37) C

Employee meals can be fully deductible as compensation, and meals merely need to be associated with the conduct of business.

38) B

The taxpayer or employee must be present for a portion of the cost of the meal to be deductible.

39) A

The fine is against public policy, the three-year subscription must be amortized, and uniforms are only deductible if not adaptable to ordinary wear.

40) C

The cost of entertainment is not deductible ($$290 \times 50\% = \145).

41) C

The cost of entertainment is not deductible ($$480 \times 50\% = \240).

When the travel has both business and personal aspects, the deductibility of the transportation costs depends upon whether business is the primary purpose for the trip. If the primary purpose of a trip is business, the transportation costs are fully deductible, but meals (50 percent), lodging, and incidental expenditures are limited to those costs incurred during the business portion of the travel.

46) D

Mixed-motive travel is prorated between business and personal elements.

47) D

The visit to the school chum does not appear to be business related.

48) E

Business meals are only 50 percent deductible and entertainment is not deductible.

49) A

The investment seminar and entertainment are not deductible, and only 50 percent of the meal cost is deductible [$$1,000 \text{ airfare} + ($500 \times 50\% = $250 \text{ meals}) = $1,250 \text{ total deduction}$].

50) A

The investment seminar and entertainment are not deductible, and only 50 percent of the meal cost is deductible [$$1,210 \text{ airfare} + ($600 \times 50\% = $300 \text{ meals}) = $1,510 \text{ total deduction}$].

51) D

McGraw Hills Taxation of Business Entities 2021 Edition 12th Edition by Spilker CH01

The rent is prepaid and must be amortized, the watch is a bribe, the gift is too expensive for deduction, and although a cash-method taxpayer cannot deduct bad debts, amounts paid to collect those receivables are fully deductible as an ordinary and necessary business expense.

52) B

$($1,250,000 + 240,000 + 250,000) \times 30\% = $522,000$. Note that George can only deduct the interest that was actually paid.

65) E

Income is realized as property is received, but the promise to pay is not property ($$170 + $215 + $184 = \569).

66) A

$$160 + $600 = $760$. The interest can only be deducted as it accrues, so only $$160$ is deductible. However, all of the insurance payment can be deducted under the 12-month rule because the insurance does not extend beyond the end of next year.

67) B

The income is earned when the all-events test is satisfied on the earliest of the date that the service is provided, the service is billed, or the payment is received.

The deferral method can be elected for advance payments of unearned service income if the income is also unearned for financial reporting.

69) D

The definition of all-events is when the right to income is fixed and determinable on the earliest of the three dates listed.

70) B

Prepayments for services can be deferred for one year if the payments are also unearned for financial reporting purposes. $($9,000 \div 18) \times 1 \text{ month} = \500 .

71) E

Sales of inventory need not be accounted for using the accrual method if the taxpayer has average annual gross receipts of $26 million or less for the prior three taxable years.

72) A

Selling, advertising, and research expenditures are not subject to UNICAP.

73) C

Kip had $12,000 of goods available for sale. Under the FIFO method, he sold all five tubs from January ($5,000) and one of the tubs from July ($2,000). Hence, his ending inventory consisted of $5,000 (two tubs from July, $4,000, plus both tubs from November, $1,000). Note that taxpayers (other than tax shelters) with average annual gross receipts of $26 million or less over the three prior tax years can elect to use the cash method of accounting for the purchase, production, or sale of merchandise.

74) C

McGraw Hills Taxation of Business Entities 2021 Edition 12th Edition by Spilker CH01

Mike can deduct 12 months of rent under the cash method by applying the 12-month rule, whereas only four months of rent will accrue because economic performance occurs ratably.

75) C

Mike can deduct 12 months of rent under the cash method by applying the 12-month rule, whereas only four months of rent will accrue because economic performance occurs ratably.

76) E

This is a list of payment liabilities.

77) E

Joe can elect to deduct the taxes accruing this year or he can elect to deduct them as recurring items. If neither election is made, then Joe deducts them in the year paid.

78) B

Economic performance occurs for the rent ratably over time, so only $24,000 is accrued ($2,000 per month). Insurance is a payment liability and accrues only as paid. However, since the payment spans two periods (six months this year and six months next year), the portion benefiting the future period would typically be capitalized. In this case, the duration of the contract does not exceed 12 months and the payment does not extend beyond the end of next year. So, the 12-month rule allows for the deduction of $18,000. Note that the 12-month rule cannot apply to the rent until economic performance occurs, and this only happens ratably.

79) A

McGraw Hills Taxation of Business Entities 2021 Edition 12th Edition by Spilker CH01

Deduct $1 million, because under the three-and-a-half-month rule payment for a service qualifies as economic performance when actual performance (the service) is expected within three and a half months of the date of payment. Note that the $500,000 might also be deductible if it qualified as a recurring expense if Ajax committed to the ad campaign in future years.

80) A

Deduct $1.60 million, because under the three-and-a-half-month rule payment for a service qualifies as economic performance when actual performance (the service) is expected within three and a half months of the date of payment. Note that the $1,100,000 might also be deductible if it qualified as a recurring expense if Ajax committed to the ad campaign in future years.

81) C

This is the definition of a recurring item—not material in amount (or better matching), expected to recur in the future, and paid before the earlier of eight and a half months or the time the tax return is filed.

100) $66,000.

The fine and political contribution are not deductible, as they are against public policy. The compensation of $33,000 for the part-time employees is deductible. Wages paid to her husband of $33,000 would also be deductible. However, the additional wages of $22,000 would appear to be excessive and therefore not deductible.

101) $67,400.

The fine and political contribution are not deductible, as they are against public policy. The compensation of $33,700 for the part-time employees is deductible. Wages paid to her husband of $33,700 would also be deductible. However, the additional wages of $20,600 would appear to be excessive and therefore not deductible.

116) $($2,900) = $1,500 - $4,400$.

If a business asset is damaged but not completely destroyed, the amount of the loss is the amount of the insurance proceeds ($1,500) minus the lesser of (1) the asset's adjusted basis of $8,000 ($20,000 – $12,000) or (2) the decline in the value of the asset due to the casualty (repairs) of $4,400.

117) $($1,550) = $1,950 - $3,500$.

If a business asset is damaged but not completely destroyed, the amount of the loss is the amount of the insurance proceeds ($1,950) minus the lesser of (1) the asset's adjusted basis of $15,200 ($29,000 – $13,800) or (2) the decline in the value of the asset due to the casualty (repairs) of $3,500.

118) $$27,500 = $112,000 - $84,500$.

A sole proprietorship must report on the same year-end as the proprietor—in this case a calendar year.

119) $$28,000 = $112,200 - $84,200$.

A sole proprietorship must report on the same year-end as the proprietor—in this case a calendar year.

121) Mike can elect to recognize $5,000 this year using the deferral method, but he would need to recognize $10,000 next year (and zero the following year).

The deferral method can be elected by accrual-method taxpayers in the first year a prepayment is received if the method is also used for financial accounting purposes. The deferral for services can last no longer than the tax year following the receipt of the payment.

122) Mike can elect to recognize $3,120 this year using the deferral method, but he would need to recognize $12,480 next year (and zero the following year).

The deferral method can be elected by accrual-method taxpayers in the first year a prepayment is received if the method is also used for financial accounting purposes. The deferral for services can last no longer than the tax year following the receipt of the payment.

123) $$1,440 = \840 interest ($$120 \times 7$ months—June through December of this year) plus $$600$ insurance ($$2,700/18 \times 4$ months—September through December of this year).

Interest accrues ratably for an accrual-method taxpayer. Insurance is a payment liability and payment satisfies economic performance. However, since the insurance covers more than 12 months the 12-month rule does not apply and the prepayment must be prorated over the period that the expenditure benefits.

McGraw Hills Taxation of Business Entities 2021 Edition 12th Edition by Spilker CH01

124) $$1,561 = \917 interest ($$131 \times 7$ months—June through December of this year) plus $$644$ insurance ($$3,220/20 \times 4$ months—September through December of this year).

Interest accrues ratably for an accrual-method taxpayer. Insurance is a payment liability and payment satisfies economic performance. However, since the insurance covers more than 12 months the 12-month rule does not apply and the prepayment must be prorated over the period that the expenditure benefits.

125) $$2,500$ is deductible last year and $$3,500$ is deductible this year.

Because Tim and Bob are "related" parties and Bob uses the accrual method, Bob will not deduct the fee until Tim includes it in his income.

126) Zero. The warranty cost is only deductible when paid, this year.

Warranties provided to the taxpayer are payment liabilities. Consequently, Colby is not allowed to deduct the $$15,000$ cost of the warranty last year. He will deduct it this year when the warranty is paid for.

127) $$400,000$

The accrued $$1$ million warranty expense is an estimate and warranty expense is a service that can be deducted only when provided or the cost is incurred. Hence, Ranger is allowed to deduct the $$400,000$ spent repairing equipment under the warranty.

128) Zero

Because tort liabilities such as this are payment liabilities, Blackwell will not be able to deduct any claim until it is paid.

129) $5,000.

The all-events test is satisfied for $50,000, but Joe can only deduct $5,000 this year because that was the amount of services provided to Joe this year (unless Joe paid more and reasonably expected economic performance within three and a half months of the date of payment).

130) $3,050.

Shadow can deduct amounts paid for services provided to it this year and any amounts paid if performance is reasonably expected within three and a half months of the date of the payment.

131) $15,000.

Unless the services are rendered, Murphy can only deduct costs actually incurred, $15,000. The remainder is not deductible until next year because of economic performance.

132) $$42,000 = $24,000 + $18,000$.

Economic performance occurs for the rent ratably over time, so only $24,000 is accrued ($2,000 per month times six months). Insurance is a payment liability and accrues only as paid. However, since the payment spans two periods (six months this year and six months next year), the portion benefiting the future period would typically be capitalized. In this case, the duration of the contract does not exceed 12 months and the payment does not extend beyond the end of next year. So, the 12-month rule allows for the deduction of $18,000. Note that the 12-month rule cannot apply to the rent until economic performance occurs, and this only happens ratably.
