50) Short Answer

The four categories of principles are: 1. Purpose and premise of an audit; 2. Responsibilities of the auditor; 3. Performance of the auditor actions in the audit; and 4. Reporting.

51) Short Answer

Auditors are responsible for having appropriate competence and capabilities to perform the audit; complying with relevant ethical requirements; and maintaining professional skepticism and exercising professional judgment, throughout the planning and performance of the audit.

52) Short Answer

Financing: The financing process involves loans or shareholder capital financing for assets such as land, buildings, and equipment. Corner Marketplace may have a bank loan or lease for its store. It may also have solicited other means of financing, such as additional owner funds.

Purchasing: Businesses acquire goods and services to support the sale of their own goods or services through the purchasing process. Corner Marketplace would purchase food inventory to sell to customers. It might also need to purchase display cases, freezers, etc. to store and display the inventory.

Human Resource Management: Business organizations hire personnel to perform various functions in accordance with the enterprise's mission and strategy. Corner Marketplace should have established policies for hiring, training, evaluating, counseling, promoting, compensating, and terminating employees.

Inventory Management: A grocery store would have significant inventory to manage, which it accomplishes as part of the inventory management process. The store would need to allocate proper costs to inventory and would need to account for produce, etc. that is expired.

Revenue: Corner Marketplace would generate revenue through sales of food to customers and would collect the proceeds of those sales. Typically, a small grocery store would not have accounts receivables from customers, as customers would pay immediately. However, the revenue cycle includes cash receipts and credit card transactions.

53) Short Answer

Corporate governance is all the people, processes, and activities in place to help ensure proper stewardship over an entity's assets. The board of directors is the body primarily responsible for management oversight in corporations. The audit committee oversees internal and external audit work done for an entity. The board of directors plays a part in ensuring proper corporate governance by holding management responsible for the usage of the entity's assets. The audit committee is made up of members of the board of directors. The audit committee enhances corporate governance by holding management accountable for its activities through audits of its work.

54) Short Answer

The CPA's Auditing and Assurance Standards Board is responsible for establishing all auditing standards in Canada. The AASB's standards are influenced by the auditing standards of the IAASB.

The Auditing and Assurance Standards Board (AASB) is an independent body with the authority and responsibility to set standards for quality management, audit, and other assurance and related services engagement and guidance in Canada.

The AASB contributes to the development of International Standards on Auditing (ISAs), which are adopted as Canadian Auditing Standards (CASs), by participating in consultations and activities of the International Auditing and Assurance Standards Board (IAASB) to ensure Canadian entities' auditing needs are considered. The AASB issues the following standards:

- Statements on Auditing Standards
- Statements on Standards for Assurance Engagements
- Statements on Standards for Review and Compilation Engagements
- Statements on Audit Quality Control Standards

55) Short Answer

To obtain reasonable assurance, which is high, but not an absolute, level of assurance, the auditor:

- Plans the work and properly supervises any assistants.
- Determines and applies appropriate materiality level or levels throughout the audit.
- Identifies and assesses risks of material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, based on an understanding of the entity and its environment, including the entity's internal control.
- Obtains sufficient appropriate audit evidence about whether material misstatements exist, through designing and implementing appropriate responses to the assessed risks.

56) Short Answer

Auditing &amp; Assurance Services Edition 4 by Messier

Jane should tell Mark that her responsibility was to plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement, whether caused by error or fraud. She had no responsibility to plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance that misstatements, whether caused by errors or fraud, which are not material to the financial statements will be detected (i.e., the small amounts of inventory). Quagmire's management, not Jane, has responsibility for the financial statements.

57) Short Answer

Some of the auditing career's that Mike could pursue are as follows:

External: Mike could become an external auditor. He would work for a CPA firm providing independent audits to nonpublic or public companies.

The education requirement for Mike to become a CPA is usually a minimum certification requirement of a university degree with selected courses in business and accounting. In addition, the provinces and territories typically require 30 months of professional experience before the CPA certificate is granted. All provinces and territories require that an individual pass the Common Final Examination (CFE), administered by CPA Canada

Internal: Mike could also be an internal auditor. He would be directly employed by the entity for which he is performing audits. Internal auditors may conduct financial, internal control, compliance, operational, and forensic audits within their organization. Internal auditors are supported by the Institute of Internal Auditors (IIA).

Government: Another option for Mike is government auditing. This is essentially a form of internal auditing.

Mike could be employed by the federal government. At the federal level, two agencies use auditors extensively: the Office of the Auditor General (OAG) and Canada Revenue Agency (CRA).

Forensic: Mike could also be a forensic auditor. Forensic auditors are employed by corporations, government agencies, public accounting firms, and consulting and investigative services firms. They are trained in detecting, investigating, and deterring fraud and white-collar crime and are supported by the Association of Certified Fraud Examiners (ACFE).

58) Short Answer

The financial statements are the responsibility of management. Management is responsible to ensure that the financial statements fairly present the entity's financial conditions and operations. Management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control. The auditor's responsibility is to express an opinion on the financial statements based on the audit. The auditor is responsible to provide reasonable assurance with respect to errors, fraud, and illegal acts.

59) Short Answer

Auditing & Assurance Services Edition 4 by Messier

In Canada, the CPA's Auditing and Assurance Standards Board is responsible for establishing all auditing standards in Canada for private and publicly traded entities.

It should be noted that publicly traded entities have been prepared in accordance with IFRS.

60) Short Answer

Internal Control Audit: Auditors test the internal controls of a company to determine whether the control system is functioning effectively (i.e., preventing, or detecting and correcting, misstatements in the financial statements).

Compliance Audit: Auditors test the extent to which rules, policies, laws, covenants, or government regulations are followed by the entity. An example of a compliance audit could be examination of tax returns of individuals and companies by CRA for compliance with the Income Tax Act.

Operational Audit: Auditors review part or all of an organization's activities to evaluate whether resources are being used effectively and efficiently. The auditor assesses the entity's performance, identifies areas for improvement, and develops recommendations. An example of an operational audit is where an entity employs auditors to assess the efficiency and effectiveness of its use of information technology resources.

Forensic Audit: Auditors conduct forensic audits to detect or deter fraudulent activities.
