41. Journalists typically ask six question these questions are lower-level question		•

ANSWER: Responses will vary. Correct answers should indicate that Who?, What?, Where?, and When? are lower-level questions because they focus on basic facts and information. How? and Why? are higherlevel questions because they require you to connect and work with those basic facts.

42. What four guidelines should you follow when you have a decision to make or argument to consider using higher-level thinking skills?

ANSWER: Responses should include the following four guidelines for higher-level thinking: gather and evaluate information, keep an open mind, apply what you've learned, and review your outcomes.

43. Imagine that you are taking an introductory Italian class. You have never taken a foreign language class, and become overwhelmed when you realize that every aspect of the class, including opening greetings and instructions on quizzes, are in Italian. Describe how you could use three higher-level thinking skills to improve your performance in the class.

ANSWER: Responses will vary. Correct responses might note that you could compare your own study tactics to the tactics of a student who is performing well in the class or who has been in a foreign language class before. Comparing might yield helpful strategies to be successful. You could also exercise deducing information by noticing the professor asks similar greeting questions (hello, how are you) at the beginning of every class and conclude that you can research and memorize common greetings and responses to feel more confident during class. You might show prioritization by reviewing the syllabus to determine the skills and vocabulary that will be covered in each lesson and practice and memorize those terms before class. You could synthesize by studying individual vocabulary and grammar rules to write responses to use during class and on exams.

- 44. What are the six levels of Bloom's taxonomy in order, from lowest to highest?
- ANSWER: Correct responses should identify the six levels of Bloom's taxonomy in order, from lowest to highest: knowledge, comprehension, application, analysis, synthesis, and evaluation.
- 45. Identify and describe the five steps of goal setting.
- ANSWER: Correct responses should identify the five steps of goal setting: gather information, set a SMART goal, make an action plan, list barriers and solutions, and act and evaluate outcomes. Correct responses should also describe the process involved in each of these five steps.
- 46. Describe the five characteristics of a SMART goal.
- ANSWER: Responses should indicate that SMART goals are specific, measurable, achievable, relevant to you personally, and time-limited, and describe each of these characteristics in relation to the goal setting process.
- 47. Describe three of the short-term goals that you will need to achieve in order to achieve your long-term goal of graduating from college.
- ANSWER: Correct responses will vary. Responses should indicate the use of SMART goals that are specific, measurable, achievable, relevant, and time-limited. Graduating from college short-term goals may include finishing prerequisite classes by a certain date or semester, passing midterm examinations, and enrolling in preparatory courses for any cumulative degree assessments (if applicable).
- 48. Imagine that one of your short-term goals is to get an A on an upcoming midterm exam. Discuss the steps you will take to achieve this goal.
- ANSWER: Responses will vary. Correct responses should include use of SMART goals that are specific, measurable, achievable, relevant, and time-limited. Examples may include attending a certain number of tutoring sessions, studying a certain number of lessons or vocabulary each night, or creating self-study guides for each chapter.
- 49. Discuss three of the barriers you are likely to face as you work to achieve your long-term goal of earning a college degree, and describe what you can do to overcome these barriers.
- ANSWER: Responses will vary. Correct responses will recognize that a barrier is something that will prevent you from making progress toward a goal. Examples may include poor time management, lack of resources, family demands, or work demands.
- 50. Imagine that one of your long-term goals is to own your own restaurant. Develop a Personal Success Plan (using the model in the text) around this goal.
- ANSWER: Responses will vary. Correct responses will show an understanding of the steps to creating a personal success plan, including gathering information, setting a SMART goal, making an action plan, listing barriers and solutions, and acting and evaluating outcomes.
